Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Says Woman Forced Her to Take Whiskey.

ON VISIT TO HALF SISTER.

Broke Window and Escaped with Baby Brother While Woman Slept.

FELL IN FRONT OF HOME.

Infant Crawled Over Its Little Sister's Form and Brought Mother with Its Cries.

By Emmeline Pendennis.

It was a shocking story that Sarah Gleason, the little thirteen-year-old victim of Cherry Hill debauchery, told in the Tombs Court to-day. With her pale face, dark-ringed beneath the eyes, hardly reaching to the level of the Magher baby brother from their home at No. 6 Dover street yesterday afternoon for a visit to her relative, Mrs. Suise McKenna, of No. 61 Cherry street.

Mrs. McKenna is the daughter of the Gleason children's dead father, and at this visit Sarah and the baby saw their half-sister for the first time since the funeral, three weeks ago.

The woman, searcely mindful of her leading the month of the cause of The Evening World Fund.

last night Sarah told her mother of the day's events, and Mrs. Gleason made a complaint against the McKenna woman, who was arrested on the charge of cruelty to children.

Discharged from the hospital this morning Sarah appeared against Mrs. McKenna in the Tombs Police Court. The defendant was held in $100 bail and or Heavy the child committed to the care of the Children's Society until the case is shown here

The Woman's Story.

Mrs. McKenna claims that she bought the liquor herself and that the girl insisted upon drinking it. Detective Modala as to allow the relaxed muscles to disprove the first part of the worman's story, and the girl's honesty and reputation will support her statement against that of Mrs. McKenna.

There is no pengity attached to such a crime as the McKenna woman committed against this helpless, innocent child.
